WHEN WINTER KNOCKS.

A sad farewell to summertime,
Goodbye to autumn, too!
The breezes of a balmy clime,
Goodbye, goodbye, to you!
But though the wailing winds sweep down
And nipping grows the air;
Why need we sigh when dreams be nigh—
Ho for the rocking chair!
Ho for the corner by the blaze,
The book, the song, the glass;
The sweet delight of winter night,
With Gold Looks at my knee!
Knock, Mr. Winter, at the door!
Blow, bugle of the storm!
Around me streams the festive dreams,
The love-lights keep me warm!
And while the blast beats loud without
Till summer we forget,
Through all we know that 'neath the snow
Soft sleeps the violet!

Mrs. William Gabby still remains very ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James M. Rains, in West Third street.

Open a bank account and pay by checks. It is the safest. Mitchell, Finch & Co's Bank would like to have your account.

Fresh Nuts, Fancy Candies, Sweet Oranges, Red Apples and nice Christmas dainties at W. T. CUMMINS.

Yesterday Mr. Elmer Bridges received an order for cigar boxes from a firm in Jonesboro, Ark. Maysville product is the right stuff and they will have it.

Go to G. W. Rogers & Co., No. 230 Market street, if you want to make a friend or relative happy, and purchase a bottle of Rogers Old Stock.

A large number of country people were in the city yesterday, and in consequence the various livery and feed stables enjoyed a harvest of shekels as well as other tradesmen.

The Mite Society of the First M. E. Church, South, will meet with the Woman's Home Mission Society tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Lecture Room of the Church.

We are offering some special bargains in Ladies' and Gents' Gold, Gold Filled and Silver Watches. Now is your time for a bargain. P. J. MURPHY, the Jeweler.

Tickets given on the diamond ring.

Real estate is on a boom at Sardis. Yesterday Mr. J. S. Bratton sold his farm of fifty acres to John Campbell at $155 per acre. Mr. Bratton in turn bought the house and lot of Mr. C. H. Newman at that place for $2,600.

Rev. George P. Taubman of Portsmouth did not undergo an operation in Cincinnati as reported. He went there for that purpose, but improved so rapidly under skilled treatment that he did not have to be placed under the knife.

Relatives of Fireman George Sheehan, the Owensville boy who was killed in the freight wreck at Mt. Sterling a few days ago, will file suit in a few days against the C. and O. Railway for $25,000 damages for carelessness in causing his death.

Silver Toilet Sets, the newest patterns, not one carried over from last year. We are making low prices. Military Brushes, Hair Brushes, Tooth and Nail Brushes, Manicure Sets. P. J. MURPHY, the Jeweler.

Don't fail to get some tickets on the diamond ring.

Clayton Martin, who was once widely known throughout Kentucky as the self-styled "Bronze Christ," going about in the coldest weather barefooted and hatless, has been indicted by the Fayette County Grand Jury on the charge of receiving stolen goods. Martin preached on the streets of Maysville a few years ago.

Our Candies are all freshly made from the choicest material and have flavors that everybody likes. A visit at our store will convince you that we have both price and quality. Our Bananas, Grapes, Oranges, Raisins and mixed Nuts are of the best quality. Globe Stamps with each cash purchase during the holidays.

J. C. CARLISH & BRO.
No. 8 East Third street.

Another one of Maysville's industries is rapidly pushing to the front, showing enterprise and energy. On yesterday the Maysville Foundry shipped two carloads of iron to Newport, by boat, to be used in a large compartment house being built in that city. They also closed two large contracts, for shipment at a later date, with parties in San Francisco, Cal., and Washington, D. C. This shows our people are wide awake and up-to-date when it comes to selling their wares.

Women's $18 Coats $9, and $15 coats $7½ at Hunt's.

In the Federal Court at Covington Mr. J. D. Dye has been appointed Receiver for C. H. Hitch.

Children's $10 Coats $5, and $8½ coats $4.25 at Hunt's.

Among other transactions at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening was a substantial supper enjoyed by the boys. Other important matters were deferred until the first of the year.

The Home Store yesterday looked more like a drygoods emporium than the men's outfitting establishment it is. During the entire day the ladies were taking advantage of the splendid offerings we have for the holidays. They certainly appreciate values, and the pleasure is all ours. See ad for list of the good things for the gentlemen. D. HECHINGER & Co.

After searching twenty years for his sister, B. F. Russell of Bellevue received news from England that his long-lost sister is residing with a family named Bache, who conducts a hotel at Braddock, Pa. Russell left England after his parents died and lost all traces of his sister, Charlotte. He located her through correspondence and she will spend the yuletide season with her brother.

A. Zelman, wife and four children, refugees from Russia, arrived in Lexington yesterday. They report thousands fleeing from the country, which is in a reign of terror. D. M. Zellman, a son, engaged in the clothing business in Lexington, was obliged to furnish the authorities at Ellis Island affidavits, proving that he was able to take care of them in this country, before they were permitted to land.

A new Democratic daily will be launched about January 15th at Lexington in an endeavor to put Editor Sam J. Roberts of The Leader out of business. Efforts have been made to get The Leader's best men on the new force, with partial success. The opposition to The Leader and Mr. Roberts is due to his attacks on the Home Construction Company, and the men who control the company are behind the move to launch the new Democratic paper, and run Roberts out of that newspaper field.

Bob Fitzsimmons and his excellent dramatic company will play an engagement at the Washington Theater on Thursday, December 20th. The vehicle selected by Mr. Fitzsimmons for this season is a protean melo-drama from the pen of Hal Reid, entitled "A Fight for Love," in four acts replete with strong dialogue, exciting climaxes and startling situations. Every stick of scenery required for this production is carried by the company. The leading female role has been entrusted to the care of Miss Julia Gifford, who is well known to theater-goers in all parts of the country. Despite the expensive cast nothing necessary for a first class production has been overlooked by Manager J. C. Matthews.

TOUGH ALL THROUGH

Charles Baker the Brute Again on a Drunken Rampage

Charles Baker, a hybrid in the form of a man, whose miserable home and neglected family are located at the corner of Front and Wall streets, was drunk and on another rampage yesterday afternoon, and had not officers Senteney and Ryan made their appearance in an opportune time there is no telling what might have befallen the wretched wife and worse than orphaned children at the hands of the enraged and drunken brute.

It has only been a short time since Baker was tried in the Police Court and held to the Grand Jury of the Mason Circuit Court on a charge of attempting to kill one of his children, and unfortunately for the community and his family as well, escaped an indictment by that body.

He was released from Jail several days ago and since his freedom has put in his time drinking whisky and abusing his family, never once having attempted to secure work whereby he might provide something to eat for his neglected flock.

Those who know him best say that he is a dangerous and bad man, and such being the case he should be dealt with in a drastic manner. Sympathy and clemency shown such as he is a waste of good intention.

If it were possible to impose such a penalty a hundred lashes well laid on would about fit his case.

It is hoped when he comes up for trial before Judge Whitaker that gentleman will give him the full limit of the law.

A gift that would be appreciated—a barrel of Roller King Flour.

THINGS YOUR CHRISTMAS MONEY WILL BUY FOR "HIM"

On the morning of December 25th, when good cheer pervades the very air itself, and incidentally the good things are being distributed "HIM" must not be overlooked. We will mention the many useful articles you can secure here. Prices we cannot quote; space forbids: Neckwear, in all shapes and patterns; Gloves, Hosiery; Umbrellas of all kinds; Shirts, Night Robes and Underwear, all varieties and ties; vast assortment of Suit Cases, Traveling Bags and Trunks; Smoking Jackets, Lounging Robes and Bath Robes at special prices this week; Fancy and Dress Vests. When you come to the more expensive things, such as Suits, Overcoats, Topcoats and Cravenettes, we are invincible price, class and assortment. In our Boys' and Children's Department we are full up for the needs of the youngsters. We again ask our patrons to make their purchases as early in the week as possible. Not that THE GOOD THINGS will be gone, for there is plenty to go around, but you can be more satisfactorily waited on than when the store is crowded, which it surely will be the last few days. IN OUR SHOE DEPARTMENT FOR MEN AND BOYS you can secure only the best here—HANAN, DOUGLAS and WALKOVER makes.

It's become so common in these piping times of Prosperity that it occasions little comment; but the 17,000 mill operatives of Lowell, Mass., started this week with a 5% increase in wages.

Four Architects submitted plans for an Odd-fellows Temple at Portsmouth, all of which were rejected. The Blade says one of the firms submitted plans that indicated they thought D. ROCKEFELLER was a member of the the "controversy" begun at Charles-ended at Appomattox, it was pretty agreed that the worm-eaten doctrine of Rights was a dead and damned issue in this country. But, spurred on by a lot of actors in San Francisco, certain politicians endeavoring to revive that doctrine. The other these gentlemen are taught that the United States is "it," the better it will be for whole country.

The Kentucky Printing Commission has set price for state advertising. The type is to point—the size used in advertisements in THE LEDGER. The price is fixed at 10 cents line for the first insertion, and 7½ per line each additional insertion, which is $1.20 each for the first insertion, and 90 cents each for subsequent insertions. Golly! Use THE LEDGER and The Bulletin had these prices for the Street Paving Ord-

SIMPLY because the people of a town or city vote "Dry,"—thus refusing to "license" saloons,—is no reason why whisky cannot be had in that town. Maine is Prohibition territory; and yet there is very little difficulty for even a stranger to get all he wants to drink in that state.

In July, 1851, the original "Maine Law" was passed in Maine; it was passed again in 1858; and then it was passed some more in 1867; in 1870 it had another "pass;" and in 1872 it was made to include "cider and wine made from fruits grown in the state." Really, it looks like such a numerously-passed Prohibition law ought to prohibit; but it doesn't all the same, as any man will tell you who ever wanted a nip, a night-cap or an eye-opener while in that domain.

WHENEVER a man who was never inside a barroom; who never took a drink of liquor in his life; who never smoked a cigar, took a chew of tobacco, or stunk his neighbors out of a ten-acre field with a cigarette; who couldn't tell the Jack of Clubs from a gin cocktail; who never bumped up against any "worldly" proposition tougher than croquet or mumble-peg;—whenever such a thoroughly(?) experienced(?) person starts out to tell just exactly how to regulate the saloon business, I feel like calling the dogs.

FOUND HIM ALL RIGHT.

Birmingham Post.

An Englishman traveling in Ireland complained that he could find none of the famous Irish wits of whom he had heard. He was advised to speak to the next farmer or teamster he met.

A little later he encountered a peasant leading a horse with a load of turf. The horse had a blazed face. "What a white face your horse has, my man!" said the Englishman, by way of an opening. "Sure," replied the Irishman, "your own will be as white when it has been as long in the halter."

Handkerchiefs!

Of course you can buy them at any old place, but the kind we sell you can't. Our buyer bought 1,000 dozen at ½ price. We received 200 dozen; the others were shipped to our other stores. They are all very fine goods; none worth less than 25c, and a good many 50c goods. We assorted them in three lots, 10, 15, 19 Cents.

Such values you may never get again. We also sell you the best 5c Handkerchief in town. All you got to do is to look at them to convince you.

Also in, a big lot of Dolls, Fancy Baskets, Ladies' Stocks, Belts, Gloves, Garters 10c, 25c.

By the way, how about that Wrap for yourself and daughter, madam? We intend to sell all our Wraps before the first of the year. Baby Eiderdown Cloaks 95c; in pink, blue, white; cost more than that wholesale.

Our $4.75 long Tourist Coat is the thing.

You need a Fur? Come here. Our prices and assortments will agreeably surprise you. Prices range from 90c to $1.

Lovel's Holiday Special!

My unusually heavy purchases for the holiday trade are now in and opened up. In immensity and variety of stock, in extra quality of goods and in cheapness of prices I am, as heretofore, away ahead of all competitors. I have taken special pains in selecting these goods, and every article I sell is guaranteed to be just as recommended. I sell only the best goods and the most reliable brands. Everyone during the holidays will want some of the following goods, of which I have a large supply: Raisins, Dates, Citron, Lemons and Orange Peel, Atmore's Plum Pudding and Mince Meat, Prunes, Evaporated Peaches and Apples, Cocoanuts, Maple Syrup, Maple Sugar, Buckwheat Flour, Oranges, Grape Fruit, Lemons, Bananas, Malaga Grapes, Catawba Grapes, Apples, Nuts, mixed and unmixed, Cranberries and Celery; also, a big supply of FINE CANDIES at the most reasonable prices.

FIREWORKS—I had determined to not sell any more of these goods, but much of my trade will have them and expects me to furnish them. My stock of ROMAN CANDLES, CANNON CRACKERS and TORPEDOES is immense, and the prices will be so low that every one can afford them. Merchants who want to lay in supplies for their trade can buy them as low of me as they can anywhere, and the goods are of the very best. My stock of CANNED GOODS is new, full and complete, as is my stock of NEW CROP MOLASSES, GREENUP COUNTY SORGHUM, COFFEES, green and roasted, TEAS of all kinds. I have just received another big lot of FANCY NEW MACKEREL direct from Boston. I lay and pay cash for all kinds of Poultry, Butter, Eggs, Country Hams, and I want for my holiday trade

Food for Farmers' Thought

Editor Public Ledger: All those mental phenomena which have occurred under the influence of mesmerism, spiritualism, telepathy, hypnotism, etc., it is now held by many, I believe by most observers of psychical phenomena, are caused by suggestion.

All those who believe in the doctrine of suggestion freely admit that a wonderful amount of good is done. Sick people are healed, wicked men and women are reformed, and people in distress are comforted, simply and solely through the hypnotic power in the possession of those persons who minister to them.

The Christian Scientists visit those who are unhappy, sick, miserable and distressed. They tell them that they are deceived; that nothing ails them; that they have neither troubles nor pains. They administer no medicine; they persuade them to shout and sing psalms, and they arise and take up their beds and walk, praising the Lord.

A few years ago John Burroughs visited Kentucky. He is a lover of Nature, and has seen much of the world; he said it was a fair land; he said he had seen none equal to it, except, perhaps, some parts of England. The land he had seen in England had for generations been built up by fertilization and high culture. The land he saw in Kentucky had been worked like a mine. Great crops of corn and wheat and hemp and hay and tobacco have been taken from it for generations. Very little has been given back, and yet it is a fair land, and yields bounteously.

Burroughs is an observer of people, and he was impressed by the high character and intelligence of one-galled farmers with trousers in their boot-tops.

A few years ago some young men from the Eastern Colleges and scientific institutions spent a season in Mason county. They said they had never seen a people who knew so well how to live and be happy. They seemed to them to take no thought of the morrow—to let every day provide for itself. They seemed to have an instinctive bent in the direction of happiness.

The Kentucky farmer has today full store of the things that make for comfort and enjoyment. Horses and cattle and hay and corn and pigs and potatoes are all selling at good prices, and our great money crop is selling higher than ever heretofore, and paying a much larger profit, because very much of the expense and hazard which until recently attended its production has been eliminated by the use of cotton on the plant-beds, insuring plants to set the crop, the machine sowing relieving us of dependence upon a rainy season to get the plants out, and by the use of insecticide, which not only saves us nearly all the former cost of destroying the worms, but insures us against the damage which the worms always did the crop to a greater or less extent, in spite of any amount of industry, expense and vigilance expended in the effort to destroy them, and last but not least comes the re-drying machine supplied by the buyers of our tobacco, by which we are relieved of all the anxiety and labor expended in getting the crop into it, and we used to call "good order," and even then it frequently got "funkt." The terms "good order" and "funkt" have become obsolete.

We no longer wait for the June sweat, when our growing crops are making the most strenuous demand upon us, to get the tobacco in order and haul it away, but we haul it off in the winter when we have time to spare, and get for the tobacco and the water in it a price which a short time ago made us happy, even with all the now eliminated tribulations, but which then attended the production of the crop.

We are a very happy people and have reason to be, but there has been for some time past some occult, suggestive or hypnotic influence at work among us, and it has a very curious effect upon some of our people, who seem to feel that they are called as Apostles and Priests to preach the gospel of unhappiness.

"The goblins will get you if you don't look out!" would be a very appropriate refrain for their evangelistic orations.

The great goblin is the Trust, with more allurements than a siren, more arms than an octopus, and more wiles than the devil.

Mr. Duke, the official head of the American Tobacco Company, is the fiend and arch-enemy of the man who grows tobacco. Three quotations are made from Mr. Duke. I think I have heard them all three every year for the last three years. When the hypnotic electrification current is weak and the Apostle feels a little shaky in the knees, lest fear of possibly losing the best buyer of his tobacco may cause the intended convert to waver, they quote Mr. Duke as saying that he would as soon pay a high as a low price for tobacco, and that when the apostolic price, which will be a high price, is put on he will buy it then just the same as now.

When the telepathic flow is fair they quote Mr. Duke as saying that he would give ever so many thousands or millions—I forget which—of dollars to prevent the organization of the farmers; but when the suggestivity makes the wires alive, then they quote Mr. Duke as saying that the farmers are all a set of damned fools and could not organize on anything.

I have been told that Mr. Duke does not use cuss words—that he does not say damn.

The meanest man on earth is he who goes to another and tells him some mean thing some one has said about him. It wounds his feelings and hurts his pride; it is cowardly, and is nine times out of ten the sentiment of the narrator. The farmers are not fools. To say that they are intelligent as a class is stopping short. If a few hundreds or thousands composed of a fair percentage of each class of the population of any city be assembled, and a like number of farmers representing each class in fair ratio be put by the side of them and compared with them, I have a faith without a doubt that the body of country people will far surpass the body of city folks in physical vigor, in moral character and in intelligence. He may not be a success as an after-dinner speaker, and he may not be an expert in the art of having his clothes tailored, but he lives close to Nature, in full view of the sky, and his work is with and among living and growing things. The generally accepted opinion is that the life of a farmer is monotonous. It is a great mistake. The complex duties of the farm are continuously and always presenting problems the solving of which call for judgment and intelligence.

At the beginning of the century just closed our forefathers were supplying their wants and striving to get gain by means and appliances but little in advance of those used by mankind three thousand years before. It would not be far if at all away from the truth to say that our industrial progress since the middle of the past century has been equal to that of all the preceding years through which we have a knowledge of the human race.

About the middle of this later period there had been such an advance in methods and appliances and means of producing commodities that production so outran consumption that there was a glut, an overproduction of almost everything that men want. It was an anomalous state of affairs. The industrial world had never before been overproduced in all lines simultaneously.

The strangest thing was that this wealth of commodities produced stagnation of trade and brought us hard times. The greater part of two decades, 1876-1896, was affected by this condition. Prices on everything so declined that there was no profit in producing or manufacturing. Corn sold as low as 15 cents a bushel; splendid crops of tobacco sold at 3 cents a pound, wheat below 50 cents, and some fairly good horses were shot because there was a surplus of them and they could not be sold. There was a supply of farm products far beyond the demand; manufacturing interests were in the same condition, and trade was dead.

I believe there was only one industry in the land that was not depressed, and there were but two luxuries in which people who were not rich could afford to indulge. One was the privilege of cursing John D. Rockefeller, the other of burning Standard Oil at a price a little above that of water. If the price of oil declined, John D. was laying a trap to catch some poor fellow with a small well. If the price went up, he was stealing back what he had given to a Church. No one could deny that Rockefeller sold his oil cheap, nor that the light it gave was almost as clear and bright as sunlight, but whether he took or gave, always—

"When with one hand he dropped a penny in the plate
"With the other he took a shilling out."

Cussing Rockefeller and burning his cheaply bought oil would not deliver us from the hard times, but some men who had always believed that everything in this world was governed by law went about finding why Standard Oil prospered while nothing else did. They saw that for great manufacturing enterprises the day of small things and of waste had passed. They saw that the only hope of a return of prosperity to the people and of success for themselves lay in their getting big and saving all waste, and reorganizing and in every line and direction establishing a system of economy commensurate with the demands of the changed industrial condition.

They reorganized, modeling after Standard Oil. Prosperity such as the world never before knew has come, and I believe that every man who has anything near an intelligent comprehension of the economic changes that have taken place in recent years will give large credit for the prosperity which we now enjoy to the establishment of what we call Trusts. Men are wicked and so are Trusts, and I make no protest against those whose rights they infringe cussing them, but the relation of the farmer to the Trust is that of the holder of a first mortgage bond to his debtor. The existence and success of the Trust depends upon the thrift and prosperity of the farmer. Especially is this true of the Beef and the Tobacco Trusts.

Now, I beseech my fellow-farmers, for whose calling I have such great respect, and for whose sterling manhood I have such high regard, not to throw stones, but to inquire if these things be so.

Don't be fooled any longer by the "Trust Buster," no matter who he may be—the agent who wants to sell you a shoddy machine, the demagogue who wants your vote, or the wind-bag who would beguile you at sixty cents a head.

"Don't throw stones; inquire if these things be true." MASON COUNTY FARMER.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 13th.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., December 5th, 1906,

To the People of Maysville, Mason and Neighboring Counties: I wish to say that my entire stock of Suits, Overcoats and Furnishings for Men, Boys and Children, also Trunks, Suit Cases and Bags, will be sold, not, however, to discontinue business, but to enable me to carry out my plans for the coming spring and summer. By adding more space, and having it well filled for this fall and winter, whose weather thus far has been against me, finds me with too much stock. It must be sold. I am going to convert it into cash, realizing that now, while you can use it, is the time to sacrifice; also, while the sizes and lots are unbroken. In this unloading sale are the products of the leading manufacturers of the country. The price will cause you to purchase. The same condition governs this sale that has been our pride—satisfaction guaranteed to all, exchanges made without hesitating and to any one who wants it their money is refunded. Beginning this day the sale will continue until the stock is reduced.

Thanking all for previous patronage, I am,

Respectfully,

J. W. LEE.
